The Jewish Spirit of Community

As I write this the week after Purim, having thoroughly washed the green paint from my face, I am reflecting on how lucky we are that EHRs is filled with so many committed and engaged volunteers. Rabbi Jonathan Sacks z'l wrote in 2012 that "the Jewish community could not exist for a day without its volunteers" – and Purim could not have happened without the time and talents of the many volunteers who helped to build it alongside the staff and clergy teams.

On the Shabbat just after Purim, we read in our Torah portion that "all those whose hearts moved them" contributed to the building and decorating of the mishkan, the holy tabernacle in which the presence of God dwelled. This is one of my favourite verses in Torah, because it speaks to how deeply Jewish it is to volunteer. At Purim, there were volunteers at every age and stage of life participating in the festival – whether painting faces at the young families Purim party, reading verses of Megillah, prepping food, serving drinks, or singing in the schpiel. Part of what made Purim so special for me this year was seeing how many different community members from near and far joined in with making the festival happen, making it their own, and making it meaningful for the community.

Rabbi Harold Kushner teaches that "We don't go to synagogue or church at a stipulated time because God keeps 'office hours.' We go because that is when we know there will be other people there, seeking the same kind of encounter we are seeking." As we move towards Pesach, the festival that defines our Jewish peoplehood, I am grateful to be part of a community that understands why we gather: to be with like-minded friends who are seeking encounters with community, spirituality, and tradition. I am especially looking forward to gathering together at our communal Seder table here at EHRs on the evening of 13 April: another event which will bring together our volunteers and staff team to celebrate that which makes our EHRs community so special.

We aim for there to be a special Shabbat experience for children every week at EHRS. Our Shabbat Shirah and Shabbat Club on respectively the second and fourth Shabbat each month are especially created for children to enjoy. On the first and third Shabbat, from 10:45-11:15 our clergy and educators run Torah time or Build a Bible sessions for any children that would like to join them. See Our Week Ahead for what is on this week. All are suitable for collecting CRP points for Jewish schools.

Come straight from school pick up, or just arrive early to play before the service. Selection of toys for the children and hot drinks available for the adults.

Early Risers Service – Second Shabbat of Each Month 9:30–11:00

This especially friendly service is mostly in Hebrew, uses nusach (traditional modes of chant for the prayers), include the Torah reading and Musaf (which is the repetition of the Amidah special to Shabbat) and other features to create a participative experience, ending with a hospitable Kiddush.

This year we will be hearing from the young people who twinned their B'nei Mitzvah with young people murdered in the Shoah, through the Yad Vashem Bar/Bat Mitzvah Twinning project. The evening will include moving music and testimony.

An important part of our memorial service is to commemorate the names of victims of the Holocaust who were relatives of our synagogue members, and then say a communal Kaddish in their memory.

If you know of members of your family who perished in the Holocaust, please let us know their names and their relationship to you. Please email june.lewis@ehrs.uk or call 020 8238 1000.

Tuesday 15 April Concert, 13:00

The New Eden Consort

A programme featuring a beautiful selection of choral works, including pieces by Finzi, Tomkins, Morley, Whitacre, and more, alongside timeless folk songs and arrangements

The New Eden Consort is a four-part vocal ensemble, based in Greenwich, London. Its members – Grace, Niamh, Charlie and Dom – are all either current vocal studies students or alumni at Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance.

The group originates in the conservatoire’s chapel choir at the Old Royal Naval College. Their collective experience in choral singing enables them to perform with balance, nuance, and close-knit ensemble as a quartet.

The New Eden Consort performs a range of sacred and secular music, and explores works from as early as the Renaissance period to contemporary music by living composers – and everything in between. A recent highlight has been progressing to the Final of the Carne Trust Chamber Music Competition at Trinity Laban.

Alongside their live performances, the group hope to reach a wider audience through their social media presence, with the aim to make classical music more accessible.
